

UGA GLOBAL EDUCATION: WHAT PARENTS NEED TO KNOW

"A ship in harbor is safe, but that is not what ships are meant for." – John A. Shedd

GENERAL INFORMATION

OFFICE OF GLOBAL EDUCATION

- Professional advising for international activities while attending UGA
- Regular information sessions and other outreach events offered
- Works with faculty on program development, including regular risk management training Helps your student prepare to go – shared responsibility, your student has homework, too!

WHY STUDY ABROAD?

- Adds to full UGA experience -- can satisfy Experiential Learning requirement!
- Become more comfortable with ambiguity Expand global network
- Understand new culture and student's host culture Increase cross-cultural competencies
- Fulfill academic, personal, and professional goals

FINANCING STUDY ABROAD

- Students can use financial aid and scholarships towards credit-bearing experiences HOPE/ Zell Miller works like regular UGA courses (even on non-UGA programs)
- Out-of-state students pay UGA in-state tuition rate for any UGA-sponsored program (UGA Faculty-Led, UGA International Center, and UGA Exchange)
- Program fees vary by program
- Scholarships available, visit studyaway.uga.edu for more information

MITIGATING RISK IN GLOBAL EDUCATION

- OGE is advised by the UGA Risk Management Advisory Committee (cross-campus representation)
- UGA does not sponsor programs or activities in countries with a Travel Warning issued by the U.S. Department of State
- All students on UGA programs* are enrolled into robust insurance policy through CISI
 - $500,000 maximum benefits per covered accident or sickness
 - Emergency medical reunion
 - Medical or security evacuation up to $100,000
 - For more information, visit the "Health & Safety" page on studyaway.uga.edu
 - *All students attending non-UGA programs are required to enroll into CISI or provide proof of equal coverage
- Program-specific pre-departure orientation meetings
- Regular comprehensive risk management training for all individuals in positions of authority for UGA Global Education programs
- Overseas Emergency Response Team at UGA monitors and responds to incident reports and world events
- Alert UGA to an overseas emergency involving their student through an Online Incident Report: oie.uga.edu/incidentreport
- In an emergency, call Office of Global Education during business hours at (706) 542-2900 or UGA Police, 24/7/365 at (706) 542-2200

STUDY ABROAD INFORMATION

YOUR STUDENT'S PROGRAM

- Course offerings, grades and credits, financial costs, academic and program structure, housing type, requirements, etc. all vary based your student's program type:
 - UGA Faculty-Led
 - UGA International Centers
 - Exchange
 - UGA Independent Experience
 - Non-UGA Program
- Ask your student what program they are interested in or attending, and work with them to familiarize yourself on the specifics of their experience.
- More information about these details can be found at studyaway.uga.edu

PRE-DEPARTURE

- Students can be excited, anxious, overwhelmed, stressed – talk to them about how they are feeling
- Join them for an advising appointment
- Check-in with them about their requirements – are they fully prepared to go?
- Help them budget
- Determine what your level of communication will be while they are abroad
- Will you be visiting? Discuss expectations
- Research the culture and location to which they are traveling together
- Does your student need a passport or visa?
- Discuss health and safety proactively – what precautions should your student take?
- Ask what their goals are for the experience!

WHILE ABROAD

- Allow time for them to get settled – travel is exhausting, don't worry if they aren't in communication right away!
- Find a level of communication that works for you both, but give them their space – over communication with home can make it difficult for students to connect to their present situation.
- Send letters or care packages
- Culture shock is an on-going process – listen to their frustrations, but remain positive and supportive, be patient with them, and remind them of their goals
- Remind them to update the travel itinerary in their StudyAway Portal application for any side travel – this will help us to reach out to them in case of emergency!
- Encourage them to engage with their host culture

UPON RETURN FROM ABROAD

- Students can be excited to come home, but may have difficulty readjusting
- Listen to their stories and ask to see pictures
- Your student's interests, habits, and world outlook may have changed – and that's okay!
- Encourage them to integrate their new hobbies or interests into their pre-study abroad life
- Take an interest in their new interests, ask questions
- Be patient with them – they are trying to process a meaningful experience, and may experience extreme emotions during this transition period.

SUPPORT OF PARENTS/FAMILIES

- Know that your student's safety is UGA's #1 priority with international activities
- Due to Family Educational Rights Privacy Act (FERPA), UGA employees may not discuss a student's information – encourage your student to be in contact with us
- In an emergency, UGA will reach out to emergency contacts as allowed by student
- Ask your student about Pre-Departure Orientation and whether parents are invited to attend
- Parents may alert UGA to an overseas emergency involving their student through an Online Incident Report: oie.uga.edu/incidentreport
- In an emergency, call Office of Global Engagement during business hours at (706) 542-2900 or UGA Police, 24/7/365 at (706) 542-2200
- For additional resources, visit: www.nafsa.org