EDUCATION ABROAD: OVERVIEW

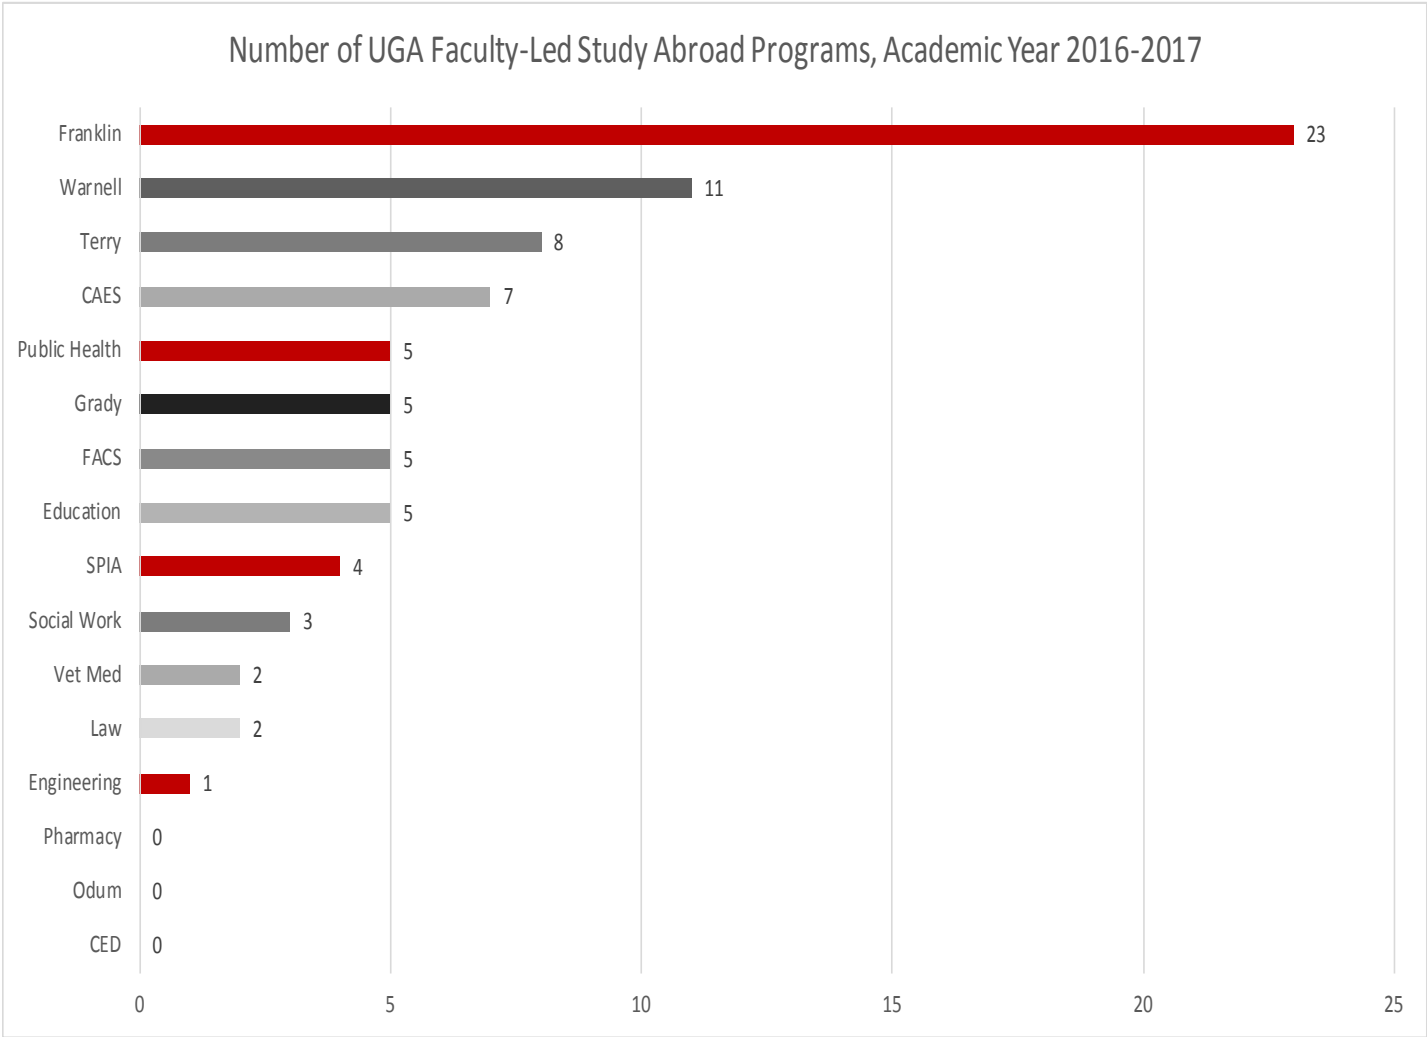

Strategic Goal: Increase the number of undergraduates who participate in study abroad or student exchange programs to 35% by 2020.

Source: UGA 2020 Strategic Plan, strategic direction IV: Serving the Citizens of the State of Georgia and Beyond, Section C.

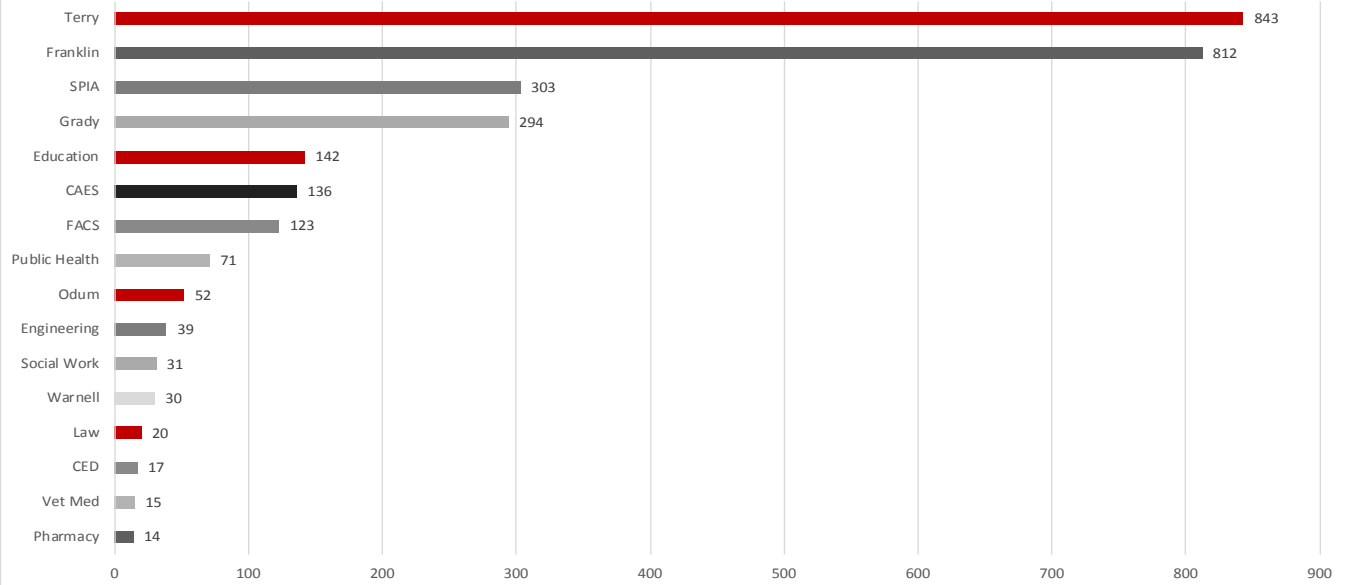

This book provides overall data on education abroad at the University of Georgia, and breaks down that data by college and school to provide baseline data for units as they evaluate and improve study abroad and experiential learning opportunities for their students.

In the 2016-17 academic year, the Education Abroad Office has developed additional services and resources for advisors and academic units. These include:

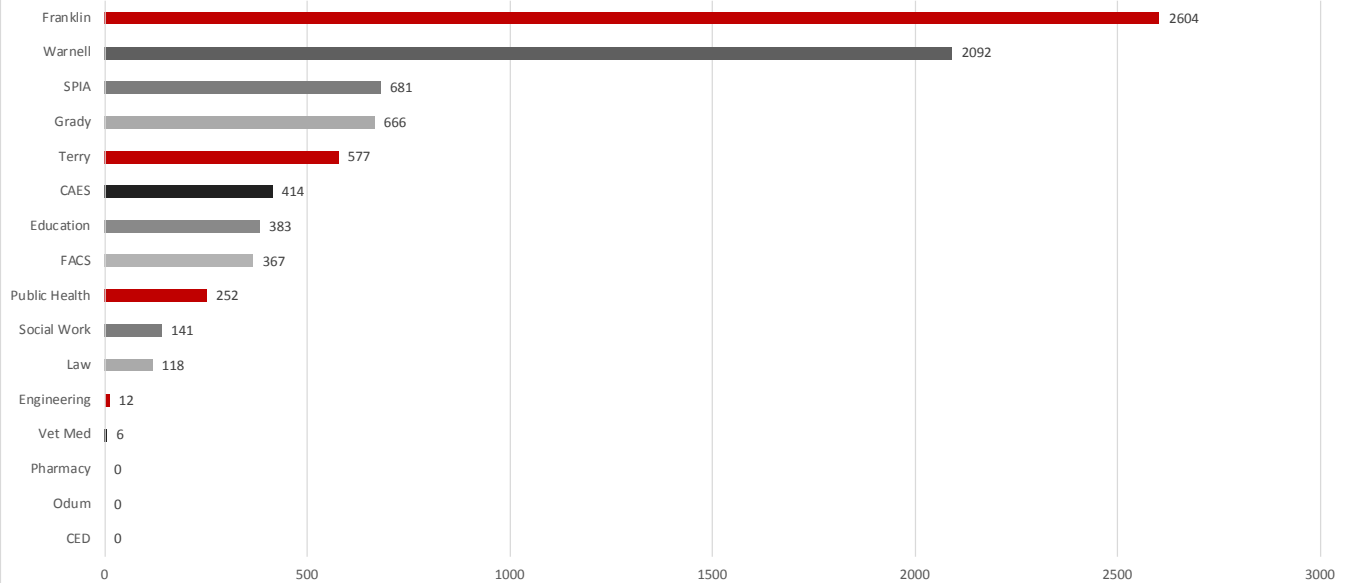

- Academic advisor resource web pages
- Electronic Safety Information Card, powered by KeynectUp
- AlertTraveler Mobile App for tracking international travelers (currently in beta testing)
- Online program evaluations and student feedback
- New policy for travel to Travel Warning countries

UGA Graduate/Professional Participation in Education Abroad, Academic Year 2016-2017*

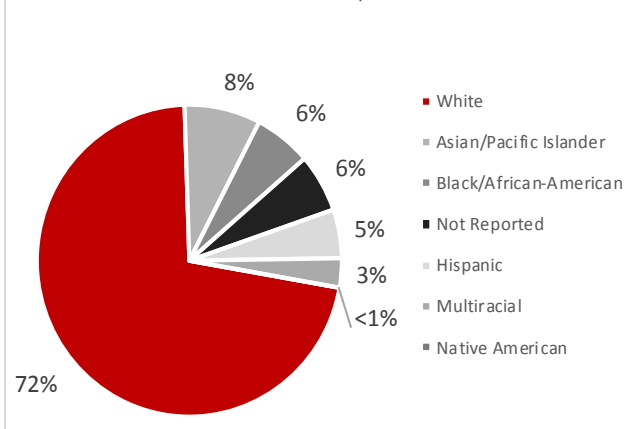

* Participation rates calculated using the Institute of International Education (IIE) metric of number of study abroad students divided by number of degrees conferred. Estimates of undergraduate participation rates may exceed 100 percent due to factors such as students studying abroad more than once, student attrition, and varying cohort sizes from year to year.

Strategic Goal: Increase the number of undergraduates who participate in study abroad or student exchange programs to 35% by 2020. (UGA 2020 Strategic Plan, strategic direction IV: Serving the Citizens of the State of Georgia and Beyond, Section C)

* Participation rates calculated using the Institute of International Education (IIE) metric of number of study abroad students divided by number of degrees conferred. Estimates of undergraduate participation rates may exceed 100 percent due to factors such as students studying abroad more than once, student attrition, and varying cohort sizes from year to year.
